BIOGRAPHY OR HISTORY

Robert (Bob) McWilliams and Charles McKain were LGBT rights and Democratic Party activists in San Diego for over three decades. They regularly sponsored San Diego Democratic Club (SDCC) events and gatherings at their home. They were married in June of 2008.

Charles McKain was a staff attorney for the Fourth District of the California Court of Appeals and served on the board of the SDCC for many years. He served as vice president, treasurer, and political action director, and was the clubs delegate to LIFE Lobby, a legislative advocacy federation of LGBT and AIDS organizations and individuals. In 1980, he was one of the first openly gay delegates from San Diego to the Democratic National Convention, and served as a delegate again in 1992, 1996, and 2000. During the San Diego 1990-1991 redistricting process, he proposed boundaries for the Third District that united communities with high concentrations of LGBT voters. McKain received the SDCC Political Action and Lifetime Achievement Awards, the Henry Auerbach Democrat of the Year Award from the San Diego County Democratic Party and was recognized when the San Diego City Council declared July 8, 2008, as "Charles McKain Day." McKain passed away on March 17, 2012.

Bob McWilliams was also extremely active in the San Diego Democratic Club, particularly in the Point Loma branch. He continued his activism after McKain's passing and was active until his death in February of 2014.

COLLECTION SCOPE AND CONTENT

This collection contains material relevant to early LGBT activism, especially by Charles McKain with the San Diego Democratic Club between the mid-70's to mid-90's. Much of the activism deals with securing equal rights in terms of housing and labor practices for the LGBT community and addressing the AIDs crisis. Some of the materials included are periodicals, clippings, correspondence, speech outlines, personal notes, ephemera, agendas, and minutes. Much of the work related to McKain deals with Bob Filner's redistricting plan which resulted in the creation of the 3rd City Council District. Other highlights include responses to Pete Wilson's rejection of Assembly Bill 101, and the 1980's Democratic national Convention in which McKain was one of the first openly gay delegates.
